

Aaron Titus is the Executive Director for Crisis Cleanup, a disaster relief collaboration platform that has documented $1.7 billion of volunteer service by 2,600 organizations after more than 225 disasters, in 48 states and 7 countries. He is the immediate past president of Mountain West VOAD, a 13-state coalition of relief organizations, the Founding Chair of the Boulder County Long Term Recovery Group (Marshall ROC), serves as the co-chair of BoCo VOAD, and represents The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints on Colorado VOAD. Aaron is the author of How to Prepare for Everything, an empowering method to prepare individuals and families for, well, everything. Aaron received his J.D. from the George Washington School of Law, and his undergraduate degree in Architecture from the University of Utah. Aaron and his wife Jennifer are the proud parents of eleven children, so he has plenty of disaster response experience—even at home.
